

Is Netanyahu a Double Agent?

By Anna Von Reitz

We have learned over the years to look at whatever it is that nobody talks about.

For example, everyone used to talk about electricity, but virtually nobody talked about magnetism, which is 10 billion times stronger. Why?

Nobody talks about money or credit, either. Billions are spent each year tracking and predicting markets and interest rates and all sorts of spin-off phenomena, but nobody talks or apparently thinks about the basic concept of money. Or credit. Why not?

In the same way, nobody talks about Israeli Prime Minister, whose actual name is, or was, Benjamin Millekowsky. Why not?

Netanyahu is responsible for most of the gross violence, apartheid, and opportunistic expansionism displayed by Israel—- and yet, this is all overblown somehow, like a bad ham actor overplaying his part in a play.

Something doesn't smell right.

While presenting himself as a Jew's Jew, Netanyahu is too sophisticated to be a True Believer in much of anything. By other things he does and says, this man betrays the fact that he doesn't believe in what he does. He does it anyway, apparently to satisfy the bloodlust of his conservative elitist backers.

So here we have a man who doesn't believe in what he does, and who masks who he is.

Is Benjamin Netanyahu a Double Agent? Destroying whatever general public sympathy might otherwise exist for Israel?

We are skeptical about Netanyahu and his actions which seem more geared toward making Israel hated worldwide — than anything else.

It would not be the first time that a Satanist portrayed himself in a radically different role than anyone expects.
