

International Public Notice: "Restoring the Federal Republic"

By Anna Von Reitz

We are already engaged in restoring the American Federal Republic and other missing parts of our traditional and customary administration. We don't need or want our British Territorial Subcontractors doing business as any version of "the United States of America, Incorporated" pretending to do it for us.

If you think that Irishmen can build a Spanish Republic, think again.

This is what the British Territorial U.S. Government is trying to foist off on us. Another Substitution Fraud. They are trying to substitute THEIR British Territorial version of "a" Federal Republic and replace our American Federal Republic without us knowing the difference. But we do know the difference.

The "States of America" was the doing-business-as-name of the original Confederation of States (1781-1861). They got the contract known as The Constitution for the united States of America which was published in 1787 - the first of three such Constitutional Contracts that our States approved.

Some people mistakenly think that the 1787 Constitution was replaced by the 1789 Constitution and that the 1789 Constitution was replaced by the 1790 Constitution, but that isn't what was going on at all. Three separate Constitution Contracts were issued sequentially to three separate Federal Subcontractors:

The Constitution for the united States of America (1787) issued to the original Confederation dba States of America.

The Constitution of the United States of America (1789) issued to the British Territorial Government dba "the" United States of America, Inc.

The Constitution of the United States (1790) issued to the Holy Roman Empire dba "the" United States (Company}.

Okay, with that as background, the Confederation doing business as the States of America proceeded to build up its new business enterprise, and to exercise the delegated powers, and provide the enumerated services.

This new Federal Government was a consortium of three service providers under contract and it ultimately received its Powers from the States and their Federation of States. The American Subcontractor was known popularly as the Federal Republic.

Note that the 1824 Webster's Dictionary says that at the time, "federal" was a synonym for "contract", so Federal Government literally means Contract Government.

This original American-based Federal Republic had State Republic Members; two different State Republic organizations were set up in each State. For example, the Texas Republic addressed administration of delegated Powers impacting their land jurisdiction, while the Republic of Texas addressed administration of delegated Powers impacting their sea jurisdiction.

The State Republics and State of Republics thus formed a local oversight to limit the Federal Subcontractor's exercise of the Enumerated Powers.

This is the way it worked from 1787 to 1861, when the Confederation lost quorum to conduct business and ceased to function because the Southern Members of the Original Confederation walked out.

The Southern Members of the Original Confederation regrouped as The Confederate States of America, while their Northern Counterparts started calling themselves "the Union" --- which confused people then and now.

There was already a Union --- the first American Union created in 1776 composed of the soil jurisdiction nation-states, was already known as "the Union".

This is another example of how the Brits deliberately and continually confuse their identity with ours by the use of similar names.

The American Union was a union of soil jurisdiction nation-states, but the "Union" referred to during the so-called Civil War, was a consortium of Northern States-of-States organizations (the Northern Confederate States that had been members of the Original Confederation) and British Territorial Subcontractor forces.

They attempted to substitute their "Union" for our Union and confuse these two different things in the minds of the people, just as they are attempting to confuse their "Federal Republic" with our "Federal Republic" now.

Mr. Trump should be ashamed of himself and so should the Generals and Admirals who are trying to foist this "New Federal Republic" substitution fraud off onto the American people.

It has to be brought home to them that we still know our history. We knew the difference between their "Union" and our "Union". We knew the difference between our American States-of-States organizations and their British Territorial States of States (the American States-of-States are styled like this: The State of New York, while the British version is styled like this: the State of New York.)

So, this well-financed and promoted idea of "restoring" the Federal Republic is not the first British Territorial Substitution Fraud Scheme these Bunko Artists have pulled off on the American People, but we are determined that it will be the last.

The only way the American Federal Republic can be restored is by action of our American States, populated by our American People. It cannot be done by British Territorial Subcontractors adopting the political status of U.S. Citizens. U.S. Citizens are foreign with respect to our country and so are "citizens of the United States".

So, we repeat: if you think Irishmen can build a Spanish Republic, think again.

This is the kind of flagrant international fraud and continued attempted crimes of unlawful conversion and deceit that these rogue players are engaged in, and have been engaged in for over two hundred years.

The pity is that they have succeeded so often, as they have played upon the mistaken assumptions of the populations they are preying upon.

If Donald Trump and his minions are serious about restoring the American Federal Republic, they need to come home, declare their political status as natural born American nationals, and take up the actual work of reconstructing first the Confederation and then the American Federal Republic --- instead of acting as Subjects of the King and trying to replace our Federal Republic with a British Territorial version of a "Federal Republic".

We have repeatedly advised President Trump what he needs to do to lawfully convert his status and office, to no avail. We can only assume that he wants to act as the President of a corporation instead of acting as the President of a country.
