Dear Dr. Qiming Bao,

We are pleased to extend an invitation to you for a guest lecture at our newly established Lab for Logic and AI at the Logic Center, Tsinghua University.

Your cutting-edge research in natural language processing and logical reasoning—particularly your work on logic-driven data augmentation and the evaluation of large language models—represents a significant contribution to the field. We would be honored to have you share your work with our graduate students and faculty members.

We look forward to your presentation and to the opportunity for academic engagement and collaboration.

Please do not hesitate to contact us if you require any further information.
