SCTelcom acquires Verity Information Systems, Beisner Joins Team

Pratt, KS - November 20, 2009: SCTelcom, a locally-owned cooperative, providing complete telecommunications solutions and services to the area for over half a century, is pleased to announce the acquisition of Verity Information Systems. This long-term strategic decision will extend a complementary service offering to enhance the current service portfolio available to customers.

With this acquisition, Ryan Beisner has joined the SCTelcom team as Systems Analyst. He will continue to provide business-class IT services to Pratt-area customers while working to expand SCTelcom's technology service offerings.

This exciting news means that Beisner's current clients will continue to receive top-notch IT support, while experiencing the added benefit of SCTelcom's technology and talent resources. SCTelcom will expand upon Verity's model of advanced network management, preventative maintenance, and reliable computer network support services.

"I'm very excited. My primary goal in structuring this was to make sure that there would be a very clear and distinguishable benefit to the customers and that it would make sense for all parties. I'm confident that we have accomplished that here. We've taken careful consideration to develop a win--win--win transition for the customers, for SCTelcom, and for my company. We will make the transition quickly and seamlessly and without interruption of service," says Ryan Beisner.

"With Ryan's industry experience, his technical credentials, community involvement and valuable business experience, it goes without saying that we're very pleased to welcome him to the team," says Zack Odell, SCTelcom's Director of Operations.
