HOUSE BILL NO. 2499

INTRODUCED BY HON. FAUSTINO MICHAEL CARLOS T. DY III

---

EXPLANATORY NOTE

While drugs can improve athletic performance, the use of stimulants and strength-building substances in sport is prohibited for several reasons:

First, the use of performance enhancing drugs is harmful to the athlete and the athlete may not be in a position to give fully-informed consent to receive the drugs. Although the use of these drugs allows athletes to train harder, recover more quickly and build more muscle, they can also lead to kidney damage and increased aggression. Other side-effects include baldness and low sperm count for men, and increased facial hair and deepened voices for women.

Second, the use of performance-enhancing drugs makes the competition inequitable, unfair and unjust. It should be a competition of raw strength obtained through natural means and not strength obtained through artificial means and with harmful side effects.

Finally, athletes are role models within society and if it is perceived that only through performance enhancing drugs can aspiring young people reach the pinnacle of their sport, this will lead to a wider use of such drugs and the potential for harm extends beyond professional athletes to the wider society.

However, there are still instances when athletes have been found to have used performance enhancing drugs or have taken banned substances whether knowingly or not.

A major drug scandal at the 1998 Tour de France underlined the need for an independent international agency to set standards in anti-doping work. The World Anti-Doping Agency (Wada) was then established the following year.

In the Philippines, the usual ebb and flow of Philippine sports was disrupted last January 26, 2025 by a particularly concerning notice from the World Anti-Doping Agency (WADA), saying that the country is in danger of getting banned in international competitions due to alleged non-compliance.

This bill seeks to establish and promote an organization that will work towards combating and preventing doping in all international and national-level sports; testing for prohibited substances and methods, and penalizing violations with the goal of ensuring the country's full participation in all international competitions.

In view of the foregoing, the immediate approval of this measure is earnestly sought.
