What's at Stake: Let's Get Prepared for November

The heat is turning up as we approach the election this November. According to Ms. Magazine, young women have nearly doubled the gender gap in voters under 30. Abortion rights is a big motivating factor in engagement for this demographic, with 59 percent of young voters wanting Congress to pass a law making abortion legal nationwide. The increase in engagement for youth has also made young people an increased target for disinformation and voter suppression. Many non-profits are focusing on youth engagement, coming out in force to make sure that young people get to the polls.

Young voters need to make sure they are prepared and ready in November. Make sure you're registered to vote and your community is too. Make sure you have a voting plan and so do those closest to you. Most importantly, get involved as much as you can! There's a lot of work to do before Election Day. Need help figuring out how you can make an impact this November? NOW Young Feminists can help you with that.

Check out NOW's Blog- Say It Sister!

Did you know that NOW has a Blog?? We do! Say It Sister, NOW's blog on our website, has tons of articles discussing our six core issues. Best of all, our interns often contribute to it!

Check it out!

Try This: Sticky Vote!

Women's March is starting a new trend called "Sticky Vote" where you post supportive messages on sticky notes to women to encourage them to vote in various public places like bathroom stalls, stores, bus stops, schools, gyms, and public transport! Messages like "Your Body, Your Vote!" and "Vote: No One Will Know But You!" are a great way to connect and support other feminists! Take a pic of your sticky vote, share it on social, and tag @now\_yf and @womensmarch! #YourBodyYourVote

Keep an eye out for our Election Resource Guide!

- Use it to check your voter registration or register to vote!
- Find resources for questions on voting or on your ballot!
- Find ways to get involved in the election!

Don't worry-- All of these resources are already on our Linktree! Click Here or check out our Instagram Bio!

Current Undergrads:

Are you interested in leadership? The NOW Young Feminist National Committee (YFNC) needs two more officers who are current undergrads! We are still looking for a Head of Undergrads and an At-Large Officer to serve on the YFNC Board. Click here to apply if you're interested!
