There is always something happening in uni especially during lunchtime. There are fairs, a market day once a month where you can sell your stuff if you want, go-green week, employability week, employability lectures every week, events, parties organized to raise money for grad shows, etc.

STUDENT STORIES

I started my life in AUB from Foundation to get to know Bournemouth and myself in terms of which art course I wanted to pursue in. Now I'm moving into the final year in BA Animation Production and I am enjoying being in my animation group. I really thought these past few years in UK was a great experience to see what it's like to spend time with people from all over the world and finding possibilities to work outside my country.

Anna Katayama | Japan
BA (Hons) Animation Production

To my surprise, AUB was everything I'd been looking for that the other uni didn't really offer – the lecturers were all lovely and really engaging; the campus itself was so colourful and open having that art school vibe, something the other uni was lowkey lacking; the area was so lovely and the course itself looked like so much fun. The many workshops and projects presented in the course, all of which I've really enjoyed, really forced me to come out of my box and start getting much more comfortable trying new things and challenging myself more.

Yena Cho | South Korea
BA (Hons) Illustration

I chose AUB because it's a 100% art focused environment. I thought to myself, 'This is where I truly want to immerse myself.' AUB is truly an artistic environment. They respect your voice and your uniqueness.

Ngan Nguyen | Vietnam
BA (Hons) Illustration

One of the reasons I chose AUB is because I wanted to study a design course without losing the experience of campus lifestyle – I love the engagement between tutors and students. The history and culture in the UK really allows me to explore a lot of new aspects of art and design.

Crystal Lai Yiew Teng | Malaysia
BA (Hons) Fashion

Becoming a part of AUB might be the finest phase in my academic record so far. From refining my design process to leading a cultural event, every challenge and opportunity has helped me grow in ways I never imagined.

Abeleeza Irsyad | Indonesia
BA (Hons) Communication Design and Strategy
