Do you struggle to imagine more for your life?

I have created a space for you to imagine more for your financial life.

I have also created a space for you to dream bigger as you shape and guide your personal and professional identities.

As a creative, I know the beauty and the complexity of existing!

My professional identities include:

Dream Doula,
Financial Guide,
Innovator,
Coach,
Financial Therapist,
Economic Wizard.

I offer a space for people to imagine!

I am a Financial Guide, Dream
Doula, and Executive Coach

My formal education is a TRIPLICITY—a combination of three DISTINCT and often INDIVIDUAL realms.

I hold MASTER'S DEGREES in both ACCOUNTING and COUNSELING. I have furthered my education through a MIXOLOGY CERTIFICATE.

SHAKE IT ALL TOGETHER and serve the FORMAL-EDUCATION combo ON THE ROCKS or NEAT (as they say in the bartending world)!

My blended education produces FRESH, INNOVATIVE RESULTS for you and your organization.

My Burning Question:

How do I offer my multi-dimensional expertise?

For years I was seeking a life path that blended seemingly opposite educational tracks and expertise. I wanted to use both my Master's in Accounting and my Master's in Counseling—a combination which symbolized my longing for head and heart connection.

The Problem

I never resonated with narrowly defined leadership books or career path advice that told me what to do because I seek knowledge from many sources and directions while shifting intuitively. I found that multi-directional changes often appear irrational amidst linear life advice, but multi-everything is exactly what activates my most Creative Self.

The Solution

I offer my most creative solutions from a place of gut-level attuned action with personalized wisdom. This place, this gap,

invites my best, most vibrant self. In this place, I feel my heart-beat and my head-beat in tandem. This is the place where I offer my best work.

Over the years, I have found my wisdom by traveling domestically and internationally and by seeking outside-the-box mentors, counselors, and energy intuitives—a few of my many life strategies to find off-the-grid advice.

How do I meet the needs in the gap?

I blend my head and heart to hear—really hear—my clients' stories. Attuned hearing means that I constantly seek symbols and patterns that represent their healing and growth. I notice their personalized shine when they demonstrate motivation and excitement during our work. That shine is their brilliance in motion!

Attuned listening with calculated and personalized solutions. Yes! This is how I serve...

Come with me to experience snapshots from the work in the gap!

The Creatives in the Gap

Gusto enters our work hopeful and motivated to observe his financial life. However, he is inwardly braced and ready to defend against shame and judgement. He secretly hopes that my language and tone will be kind, heartfelt, and honest. He also wants calculations and personalized financial guidance.

*This inward fear is not spoken out loud.
In fact, deep-seated fear is not consciously known.
Fear is rarely formed into spoken words.*

It is felt.

It is enacted.

It is held in the body.

Viscerally.

Energetic.

Resonating.

I feel it too.

Gusto's Story

Gusto is reaching middle age. He has a lot of internal wisdom, collected from his circuitous career path(s) and entrepreneurial efforts. He is dedicated to integrating his mind and heart through yoga, alternative medicine practices, and various personal development activities. He represents the people that come my way. He is hopeful and full of internal wisdom. His personal dedication to internal and external growth vibrationally guides him towards experts that integrate his personhood instead of splitting his head knowledge from his heart wisdom.

Claud's Story

Claud starts our work to consider and discern a major life transition. From her perspective, this life shift and leap will cost her everything. Her finances will temporarily shift if she leaves her soul-sucking job. She wants permission to leave a lifeless, anxiety-producing situation, but she also wants a calculated, grounded vision.

Keagan's Story

Keagan has recently surpassed her family of origin in money and status. She is living a life beyond her wildest dreams. The old money pathway and commonly shared roadmaps for financial guidance do not fit her current reality. In addition, her community does not relate to her newly shifted money status which adds to the isolation and fear of judgement. She comes to our work for grounding, empathy, and vision as she figures out this lonely and hard-to-navigate experience.

These people desire head and heart solutions!

What is your story?

These stories are a blend of many client stories. Clients that have recently paid off debt, started a business, and reconstructed their life. Clients whose personal and/or business partnerships have come to an end, evolved, or upgraded. Clients whose present experience is an open canvas and a new landscape brimming with possibility.

A New Space to Exist

My blended expertise and various life experiences culminate in this gap to support:

career shifts,
entrepreneurial efforts,
financial guidance,
and future dreams.

Creatives are supported with heartfelt attunement and tenderly calculated tools—like spreadsheets—that provide a distinct path and picture for clients to regain their power.

Creatives have a place to exist!

People now have a place to find and feel the fabric of their lives while calculating and strategizing. People also have a place to feel their personal shine and their authentic essence.

We found each other in the gap!

“Hillary is amazing. I’ve had her on board my ship for just over a decade and her company and expertise have been invaluable to my financial, emotional, and family life! Not only is she brilliant with the numbers and details but her unique ability to use her robust intuitive gifts round out the experience of learning and growing in a holistic way. I have recommended her to numerous friends over the years. She’s a brilliant energetic numerically astute gem.”

Singer Songwriter, Instructor*

“Hillary’s human-centered, story-board approach to finance completely reframed my relationship to money both personally and professionally.”

—SCOTT MACPHEE, Communications Specialist, Project Manager

“Hillary is one-part creative visionary, one-part economic wizard, one-part therapist, and one-part executive coach. I’ve worked with her weekly for over a year and a half and it’s impossible for me to overstate how much she’s helped me across multiple areas in my life: personal, professional, financial and spiritual. As a psychotherapist and former Buddhist monk, musician, and boxer, I’ve had a lot of therapy, done a ton of “practices” of all sorts, and spent countless hours learning about all things related to growth, healing, and personal development. Hillary is the real deal--a top-tier guide and agent for growth and expansion--and my Friday meetings with her are literally the highlight of my week. I cannot recommend her highly enough!”
